149 NEIL ROAD

This is a two-storey terrace house with a generous forecourt and a tranquil garden at the rear. It has been sensitively restored to its original beauty within an environment that is true to its traditional style.

Main two-storey facade and forecourt restored to original details and finishes

Attic floor created to provide additional living space

Minimum intervention to first storey internal space

Tastefully furnished family area creates a cosy atmosphere

Airwell lends interest to the spatial experience of old terrace house

Internal pintu pagar of original design at second storey passageway

A new cast-iron spiral staircase introduced to harmonise with the older elements of the shophouse

Dining room opens to a small rear tranquil garden
