

URBAN REDEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY ARCHITECTURAL HERITAGE AWARDS OVERVIEW

OBJECTIVE

- 1 The URA Architectural Heritage Awards (AHA) was launched in 1995 to recognise well restored gazetted national monuments and conserved buildings in Singapore and has been periodically reviewed in response to the evolving nature of good practice in heritage building projects.
- 2 The scheme aims to recognise projects that have gone beyond the basic requirements to conserve a building. It serves to encourage conservation best practices, both in technical restoration of the building's physical fabric, as well as the intangible aspects of creating long-term value for the wider community. A good conservation project should enhance the heritage significance of a building.

FREQUENCY OF AWARDS

- 3 Starting from 2022, the Awards will be given once every two years.

ELIGIBILITY AND PRE-SCREENING

- 4 Applications are open to projects completed in Singapore and must have been occupied or put to a viable use for a minimum of one year after obtaining the Temporary Occupation Permit (TOP)/Certificate of Statutory Completion (CSC).
- 5 Projects that do not constitute a full conservation on the entire building may also apply if there are key conserved elements that are done exemplarily (e.g. plaster ornaments, woodwork etc.), these projects do not require TOP/CSC clearance or a minimum occupation period. Partial conservation projects should also demonstrate technical excellence and social/cultural impact. If assessed to be of merit, projects will be conferred a Special Mention. Such proposals are to use the same Application Form and fill in relevant parts of the Submission Template.
- 6 All applications will be pre-screened and at the discretion of the URA, non-eligible applications will be returned. Conservation projects which are assessed to consist only of largely interior design works will not be eligible for consideration.
- 7 Projects that have unauthorised use, illegal works, unresolved planning issues will be disqualified.
