

290 Jalan Besar Road

Additional Jalan Besar Shophouses Conserved

Our built heritage is an important part of our city. It is a physical manifestation of our collective history and experiences as a nation. For all Singaporeans, our built heritage is what makes this place home. Even as we seek to become a global city, we need to remind ourselves why this is home, and not just another modern city that we work or play in. As part of URA's proactive conservation efforts, another 51 shophouses at Jalan Besar and two Art Deco structures at Tyrwhitt Road have been conserved, adding to our growing collection of more than 7,000 heritage buildings and structures already legally protected. Read more about the conservation efforts in Jalan Besar on pages 15-17. ●
