

Dine in cosy comfort in this conserved building

— Ng Cher Khee

One of this year's award-winning projects of the annual URA Architectural Heritage Awards (AHA) involved a four-storey Art Deco building and two double-storey shophouses of the Early Style in the Historic District of Chinatown.

Innovative yet sensitive restoration works were carried out to retain all the original features of these buildings. The shophouses are now connected to the Art Deco building through a new opening and the slope of the site is creatively used as an underground wine cellar.

Popular food and beverage outlets now reside at 36 Club Street and 23 Mohammad Ali Lane, giving diners a cosy and nostalgic environment to dine in.
